ANNEX II

Electronic communications and information society legislation

November 2011

This annex lists the relevant legislation on electronic communications and information society topics, with the title of the law or ordinance in the original language and in English translation and a reference to the official gazette number of the original version and later amendments.

The scope of the covered primary legislation includes:

- law on electronic communications (or law on telecommunications) and special laws on certain topics of electronic communications regulation, such as law on universal service, law on digital switchover, law on wireless communications, law on data retention, law on rights of way etc.;
- laws on broadcasting or electronic media, law on the public service broadcaster;
- law on competition;
- laws on electronic signature, e-commerce and electronic documents;
- law on data protection;
- the criminal code;
- other laws relevant for the sector (for example Law on the information society services, laws containing special provisions for internet service providers etc.) or other laws that are referred to in other tables of this study.

With regard to secondary legislation, only the most important items of secondary legislation are covered.

| | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Law nr. 6099 provides an article regarding “electronic notification”. According to this recently added article, upon request of relevant person, notification to the valid e-mail address which is provided by him/her, is officially notable. Moreover, electronic notification has become compulsory for joint-stake companies, limited companies and limited partnership divided into share companies. 2. The Electronic Communication Law changed the Turkish legal and institutional framework for electronic communications significantly and improved the alignment with the EU regulatory framework, in particular in the area of authorisations. 3. Electronic Signature Law has been implemented effectively in Turkey since 2004. 4. Turkish Code of Obligations has been adopted by the Parliament and it will come into force on Oct. 1, 2011. According to this law, electronic signature and original signature produce the same legal effect. 5. Turkish Code of Commerce has been adopted by the Parliament and it will come into force on Oct. 1, 2011. According to this law, every stock corporation has to set up a web-site of their corporation. Some documents relating to this corporation have to be published via that website. Moreover, some documents have to be saved electronically. Executive Board meetings might be held electronically. 6. The Code of Civil Procedure has been adopted by the Parliament and it will come into force on Oct. 1, 2011. Article 445 of this law provides the legal basis to National Judiciary Informatics System (UYAP). UYAP is an e-justice information system, which has been developed in order to ensure fast, reliable, soundly operated and accurate judicial system. 7. After the referendum of September 12, 2010 a constitutional reform package has been adopted and the following paragraph has been added to article 20 of the Constitution of the Republic of Turkey: “Everyone has the right to demand the protection of his or her personal information. This right also involves to be informed about the information related to one’s own, to access to this information, to request their correction and deletion and to know about whether these data are utilized in accordance with the purposes. Personal information shall only be processed in accordance with the conditions anticipated by law or with the explicit consent of the person. Principles and procedures on the protection of personal information shall be regulated by law.” 8. Therefore, protection of personal data is granted a fundamental status by Turkish Constitution. However, data protection law has yet to be enacted and the draft law is still pending before the Parliament. 9. Before the general elections in June 2011 the Turkish Government reorganised certain public organisations. The State Planning Organization was reorganised as the Ministry of Development by the “Decree Law on the Organisation and Duties of the Ministry of Development”. According to Article 2/j of the Decree Law, “The Ministry of Development shall prepare strategies and targets regarding information society, and coordinate public authorities, non-governmental organisations, private sector. The Ministry of Development shall also efficiently steer and monitor this process.” | | |
